ILDS Teledermatology Grant Programme in Partnership with CeraVe Care for All

Guidelines and Eligibility

The Teledermatology Grant Programme offers two categories:

- Category 1: Initiating a teledermatology service. Suitable for those who have identified the need to set up a teledermatology service, with prior research conducted on the service provider they would like to engage. One-year programme, funding support of up to US $ 20,000.
- Category 2: Expanding/scaling up a current teledermatology service. Suitable for those who have a teledermatology service in place, but need financial support to expand the coverage and reach of the service. One-year programme, funding support of up to US $10,000.

Please read the key eligibility criteria before starting your application:

- This programme supports teledermatology projects that focus specifically on the implementation and integration of teledermatology solutions for healthcare providers.
- The programme does not support commercial or direct-to-patient teledermatology models in which patients seek clinical care directly from dermatologists.
- Eligible projects must demonstrate a clear emphasis on building capacity within healthcare systems, including training, systems development, or service delivery models that enable healthcare providers to deliver dermatological care remotely.
- Projects implemented in countries where CeraVe operates are required. Please find the list of CeraVe market-approved countries below: https://www.cerave.com/countries-regions.
- Applications must be submitted in English, the official language of the ILDS.
- Stakeholder engagement with the local government and the Ministry of Health is especially valued.
- Applications are eligible for both individual and organisational applicants.
- Applicants may submit an application under ONE category only. If applications are submitted in multiple categories, all submissions may be deemed ineligible and could be disqualified.
- Organisation/institute-led applications will be required to submit a statement from the organisation/institute reflecting support from the organisation/institute.
- Individual-led applications will be required to submit a CV and a reference letter from the current employer.

- This grant programme is not eligible for technology companies that are creating their teledermatology service.
- Applicants will be able to demonstrate permission from relevant government bodies for data gathering and reporting.
- Applicants will be able to demonstrate any ethical approval required to establish/expanding a Teledermatology service if needed.
- Applicants will be required to demonstrate that appropriate informed consent procedures are in place and that all activities comply with applicable local data protection and data security regulations.
- Selected projects are committed to starting their projects from January/February 2027. Applications for projects commencing after February 2027 will be considered ineligible.
- Projects are expected to be completed within a 12-month timeframe.
- The selected projects will have an organisational bank account that can receive funds in US Dollars. The ILDS is unable to provide bank transfers to a personal bank account.
- Successful applicants must acknowledge the grant in all related activities, including publications.
- Successful applicants will be expected to commit to ILDS reporting requirements.
